

Attention Military Servicemembers: Introducing Remotely Proctored DSST Exams

For over 30 years, DSST exams have helped military personnel advance toward their educational goals by providing an important and reliable head start to post-military life. DSST exams allow you to get college credit for knowledge you already have, shortening the pathway to graduation while reducing college costs.

Now, you can take an exam via the ProProctor™ remote testing platform, which provides service members with the autonomy and flexibility to choose a time and date that works best for both their personal and professional schedules.

Speak with your Education Specialist today about the most relevant exam for your degree path and free study material for your success!
